This email is a huge shout out to Li Laoshi, 3rd grade Chinese dual. She entered last year's Kung Fu video from Chinese New Year into a contest for the National Chinese EXPO of Student Works. This is a competitive event with over 4,000 entries from the US and Canada. They have been chosen as a finalist.

Three Falls Elementary celebrates Chinese New Year with song, dance, Kung Fu

Written by Bridger Palmer February 12, 2024

HURRICANE — Three Falls Elementary School recently hosted its annual Chinese New Year assembly, where students from all grade levels put on a show with dancing, singing and even Kung Fu skills.

“Three Falls Elementary is a Chinese dual immersion program,” Principal Jennifer Eggleston told St. George News during the event held last week. “Each year, we strive to include all students in the Chinese culture.”

The goal for this year’s performance was to allow everyone to immerse themselves in a Chinese art experience, from students, staff and community members.

She said the school has award-winning teachers on staff.

“Jing Li, our third grade dual immersion teacher, recently won the National Chinese Expo of Student Works by submitting last year’s Kung Fu performance,” Eggleston said. “There were over 1000 entries from around the nation, and our students won.”
